Math Update: The math faculty reported on how things were going with the new math classes. The teachers seem to like the mix between algebra and geometry and feel like the SAGE testing is accurate and provides them with good feedback. They are implementing about 10% new material each year and feel like it has provided a good transition to new topics. The math lab has really helped students and should continue to be funded through Micron.

Dave Carter presented expanded data from the stakeholders report and reviewed areas of excellence. We shouldn't expect to increase the graduation rate beyond the current 93%, but the ACT results may provide hints as to how we could help students to be more college ready.

Lauri Stringer provided a counseling update and asked if we needed an additional parent meeting to review registration.

We had a brief construction update. They are about 5 weeks behind the August completion date.

Agenda for the next meeting will be:

February 17, 2015 12:00 p.m.

- 1) Data Review
- 2) School LAND Trust Program Discussion
- 3) Lauri Stringer counseling update
